SPECIAL FORCES DETACHMENT HAS DEMONSTRATION AT TELSTAR ASSEMBLY TODAY

A demonstration by Operation Detachment A with equipment layout, Co. C, 10th Special Forces Group, Airborne, of Fort Devens, Mass., was given in the Telstar gymnasium at a 9 o'clock assembly this Thursday morning. Much of the unit's training and equipment was explained. Following the assembly in the gymnasium there was a HALO ("high altitude low opening") parachuting technique jump from a helicopter to the school grounds by seven of the troops. The troops participating were from the group which have been training in down hill skiing at Sunday River Skiway. Some of them arrived via parachute on Jan. 17.

NASTAR RACES AT SUNDAY RIVER SKIWAY EACH SUNDAY

This season Sunday River Skiway will hold a NASTAR (National Standard Race) on Sunday's at one p. m. NASTAR is a giant slalom race held in 78 areas throughout the country for recreational skiers. Skiers of all ages and levels are encouraged to enter this race to insure its success. By entering NASTAR a skier races not to win, but to establish a handicap with other participants across the country. A participant's handicap is established by computing his time with the par time set by the pacesetter. If the racer is within a certain time bracket he is eligible to win either a gold, silver, or bronze NASTAR pin. At the end of the season the highest times and lowest handicaps are selected to race in the regionals against other high scorers in other areas.

Classified racers may enter NASTAR, however they are not eligible to compete in the regionals at the end of the year.

Registration for NASTAR opens Sunday mornings at the Sunday River Ski School desk.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The Budget Committee has approved a budget for 1971 with a 2.18% increase over 1970. They are considering the proposal to provide Retirement Insurance for employees. This would increase the recommendations to either 3.21% or 4.41% depending upon the type of insurance offered. More information must be obtained prior to the town approving a long term obligation such as this.

In answer to the many inquiries we are receiving relative to Mrs. Young's progress in recovering from her illness, we expect her back to work within a week or two as she apparently is making a satisfactory recovery.

Our sand pile is diminishing rapidly during the small storms we have experienced. It requires constant sanding of the roads as they coat over with each new snow fall. Each year we screen more sand in the fall and for the last two years we have had to replenish our supply before spring. If we continue at the present rate we will have to do it again this year.

STATE AGRICULTURE DEPT. DISCOURAGES MAKING PETS OUT OF WILD ANIMALS

Making pets out of wild animals is a dangerous practice according to state officials following a marked increase in livestock losses from rabies.

Francis G. Buzzell, Maine Agriculture Department Director of Animal Industry, issued a warning to parents to advise their youngsters not to make friends with wild animals that appear to be sick, as they could be carriers of this disease, which has already claimed the lives of three head of cattle and two foxes since the beginning of the year.

Mr. Buzzell also urged owners of pets to have dogs vaccinated every two years and cats every year to prevent rabies infection. The MDA officials reported that areas in Northern Vermont and Canada have experienced an increase in rabies infections, and if this trend continues to follow a pattern, Maine could expect a marked increase in 1972. Presently, the disease is prevalent in the Bangor-Orono area, and is spreading south from Oxford County into Cumberland County with foxes as primary carriers.

Farmers are warned to notify a veterinarian if their cattle show signs of choking, and not to attempt to treat the animals themselves.

Parents living in rural areas where rabies is known to exist should instruct their children to be aware of foxes, raccoons and skunks which may visit the front yard or enter the stable; they may attack the family dog or bite at the tires of a parked tractor or car. In 1970, 51 cases of rabies were reported.

Communities desiring a rabies clinic should contact a veterinarian and a service club or other similar group to sponsor the program.

BASKETBALL: CLASS D

by Kris Larson (Western Maine) and Phyllis Harmon (Eastern Maine Correspondent)

Eastern Maine Results: Washington Academy was defeated by Woodland and Eastport, but they downed Lubec. Lubec lost to Calais but Higgins and Easton, Ashland upset
Class A Fort Kent! Jonesport-Beals romped over East Grand and Calais.
Naragansett trounced Machias. Stevens rolled over D. I. Stonington.
Those were most of the Eastern Maine D games that were played last week.

Western Maine Results: Erskine slipped past No. 1 Valley High and they had no trouble with Oak Grove.
Coburn, Mt. Abram downed Dix-field but lost out to Fryeburg. Valley High clouted Jackman. Wells beat Marshwood. Wiscasset got past Monmouth. Vinalhaven beat Richmond. Gould downed Buckfield.
Buckfield sneaked past Rangeley.
That covers most of Western Maine
D.

Game of the Week: One of the major Western Maine D games was
No. 2 Mt. Abram hosting No. 4
Gould. Mt. Abram won the contest, 30-43. But, in no means was it a runaway. Gould led 17-8, 30-26, and 42-49 for the first three quarters. Mt.
Abram exploded in the fourth quarter and outscored Gould 30-7! It was the first meeting of the two schools.
I see the next match to be much closer. Grover was top man for Mt.
Abram and tops for the night with 30 points. Noel Hinkley was second with 18. Abbott had 12 to pace the winners. Dan Vogt led the Gould boys with 20. Jack Milligan had 10.

Player Profile: Jack Milligan, 5' 8" guard, Gould Academy Huskies. I term Jack as the court magician.
He's a great dribbler and a very good shot. His moves are awe-inspiring. On the defensive side this kid is equally well. He leads Gould in ball-stealing. He's also one of the best rebounders on the team, he leaves enough daylight under him to light the whole Eastern Seaboard!
Jack is truly one of the best players I've ever seen. Only a junior, a lot more action is yet to come.

PREPARING COMPREHENSIVE ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION PLAN FOR MAINE

The first steps in the preparation of a comprehensive environmental education plan for Maine is under way, Commissioner of Education Carroll R. McGary has stated.

A 12 member committee designated by the State Department of Education is gathering basic information. When completed, the plan will cover all levels of environmental education.

"Some productive education programs in this field have been in progress for several years in Maine," the Commissioner said. "But we hope this committee can pull it all together with suggestions for a coordinated total program involving the many concerned disciplines. No level or area of education can afford to neglect the subject of Maine is to insure a quality of life reflecting the State's priceless resources."

A broadly based State Advisory Committee, to be named later in 1971, will prepare the final State Plan for Environmental Education. Marshall T. Wiebe, Title III environmental education consultant for the State Department, is coordinating the writing project. Title III of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Act, provides funds for innovative educational programs.

Committee members include Marshall F. Burk, Natural Resources Council of Maine; Professor John W. Butzow, University of Maine; Dean Bennett, Yarmouth; Director, Maine Environmental Education Project; John T. Gould, Jr., Paper Industry Information Office; Frank H. Harrison, superintendent of schools, Yarmouth; Joel W. March, State Forestry Department; Paul K. McCann, Keep Maine Seaside Committee; Professor John E. Murge, University of Maine - Farmington; Wesley Willink, coordinator, Yarmouth area environmental education program; and Douglas A. Stafford, Richard E. Sevey and Joseph Pecoraro of the State Department of Education.

INTEREST RATES INCREASE ON G. I. INSURANCE LOANS

Interest rate changes on two GI insurance programs have been announced by the Veterans Administration.

Effective Jan. 11, the interest rate paid by veterans on money borrowed on their government life insurance policies will be 5%. The old rate of 4%—in effect more than 24 years—will continue to apply to all loans made before Jan. 11.

The interest VA pays on insurance dividends left to accumulate by veterans holding World War II type National Service Life Insurance policies (with a "V" prefix) was increased from 4% to 4.25% effective Jan. 1, 1971.

Dividends left with VA for these NSLI policies totaled about $283,000,000 at the end of 1970, exceeding by $10,000,000 the amount left with VA at the end of 1969.

The higher interest rate paid by VA results from greater interest earnings in the NSLI trust fund. About 105,000 policy loans amounting to nearly $135,000,000 were made to veterans in 1970.

TAX REFUNDS TOTAL APPROXIMATELY $51 MILLION

An estimated 200,000 Federal taxpayers due refunds were asked recently by Director Whitney L. Wheeler of the Internal Revenue Service to file their returns as soon as possible.

Director Wheeler revealed that the taxpayer refunds total approximately $51 million. He said IRS is not only anxious to refund the money but to reduce operating costs at the IRS Service Center, Andover, Mass.

He said by filing early in the year taxpayers will receive their refund checks long before the April 15 deadline for filing. To expedite the refund processing Director Wheeler advised taxpayers to use the preaddressed name label that came on the cover of the form 1040 sent you by the IRS.

TELSTAR STUDENT HONORED BY RUMFORD VFW POST

Miss Elsie Brooks, a Telstar Regional High School junior, was honored last Sunday evening by the Rumford Chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The other two contestants sponsored by the Post were present also. As the Telstar winner, Miss Brooks was presented a $25 government bond for her winning essay, which follows:

Freedom — Our Heritage
"We want freedom," cry the restless rioters. Little do they realize that they are obstructing other people's rights of freedom by their childish endeavors to satisfy themselves. Freedom means restraint. When we try to let everyone do as he pleases, we soon find that no one is free to do much of anything.

Sacrifices must be made if this society is to be kept free. No one person can have his way all the time. There is rarely a time when somebody does not desire to use his liberty to curtail the liberty of others. Race, class, and creed hatreds have always overlooked Ben Franklin's famous words:

"The longer I live the more I have come to respect other men's opinions. For I have noticed, Sir, that when the joiner wishes to make a perfect joint, he has to plane a little from both boards. Let each of us be willing to give up some of his own cherished opinions for the good of the whole. For gentlemen, what we need in these debates is light, not heat."

This great country is full of freedom for those who want to use it wisely. Freedom was not meant for the selfish. These people who would not fight and die for freedom don't deserve to call themselves Americans. We have always had to fight for our freedom and we probably always will have to, but the fact that there are people who love their country enough to fight and die for it should make us feel gratified.

There is no such thing as being free in general. Freedom is always freedom from something or freedom to do something. The Puritans found the freedom to worship in America. After the Revolutionary War we were free to govern ourselves. Since that time we have been given many other freedoms such as freedom of press, freedom of speech, freedom to assemble peacefully and many more.

The future of freedom is hard to predict. Three things, however, are perfectly clear:

1. We can no longer secure freedom by running away from the conditions that restrict it.
 2. The United States is no longer a country of self-sufficient farmers. People are so dependent upon one another for a living that any powerful group can impair or destroy the freedom of almost everyone else.
 3. Any power strong enough to control the many competing forces that are loose in today's world may well become a threat to freedom itself.
- These facts present a set of serious problems. No one can now say how they are to be solved. But this world has had a taste of democratic freedom and some people have learned to treasure it and to want it. Freedom today faces a hard fight under exceptionally difficult conditions. Only time will tell whether men can find a way to live in close interdependence and still remain free. But it is safe to predict that they will not give up freedom without a struggle.

TELSTAR R. H. S. NEWS

STUDENT COUNCIL NOTES:

The senior class has plans made for the Winter Carnival, which is going to be held the 12th and 13th of February. Several things are being planned some of which are, snow sculptures, a folk concert, different types of races and a dance at which the Carnival Queen will be crowned. Each event will have a certain number of points which will be awarded to each class, highest points going to the class which won the event. Advanced tickets will be sold and the class which sells the most amount of tickets will get a number of points for their class.

Different clubs and organizations are being asked to sponsor, so to speak, a girl to be Carnival Queen. A few clubs have already selected girls they will promote for Queen.

It is hoped that all the students take an interest in this year's carnival so as to make it more competitive and more fun. How about it? Come on out and support your class.

WOODSTOCK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

On Thursday afternoon, Mr. Larry Arsenault, head of the science department at Telstar, talked to the fourth grade science class at Woodstock about various aspects of weather. Especially interesting was the mysterious package he brought with him, which he said came from the weatherman. It contained a radioane or weather balloon similar to the one used by meteorologists in their study of the weather.

Mr. Arsenault's visit was most interesting and informative and added a special ending to the unit. Thanks also go to Tim Mills and Terry Wilson for their fine presentation of cloud types.

HEART ATTACKS!

"Should be Almost Completely Preventable"

(This is the final series of articles on heart attack indications, presented by the Rumford Community Hospital in cooperation with the Maine Hospital and Maine Heart Association.)

A frequent complication of the heart attack is often implicated in sudden deaths.

This complication is called arrhythmia.

The heart attack itself occurs when oxygen-laden blood is suddenly prevented from reaching the heart muscle. In most cases, the blockage results from a blood clot that becomes trapped in an artery narrowed by disease. For a heart attack to take place, blockage must occur in one of the three coronary arteries which carry blood to the heart.

Such a blockage lasting for any length of time damages the area of the heart deprived of blood. This area of damage is called myocardial infarction, the medical term for a heart attack.

If a large enough area of the heart is damaged, the heart muscle may slowly deteriorate until it can no longer pump sufficient blood to sustain life.

Death under these circumstances comes gradually over a period of days. Or the badly damaged heart may degenerate into a frequently fatal condition called cardiogenic shock. When arrhythmia results—no matter how small the area of damage that for some unknown reason causes the irregularity—death may strike quickly.

Arrhythmia is an irregularity in heartbeat. There are many kinds of irregularities. In the case of sudden death involving heart attacks, one particular type is most often to blame.

This is called ventricular fibrillation and comes when the left ventricle, the lower left heart chamber, starts beating irregularly, looking much like a sack of worms.

Irregularities in the rhythm of the left ventricle are the most dangerous because that happens to be the chamber which works the hardest. It is the left ventricle which must pump the blood containing fresh oxygen from the heart to the aorta, the main artery which carries blood to nourish the rest of the body.

Fortunately, it is ventricular fibrillation which best lends itself to treatment in a coronary care unit.

The danger of developing ventricular fibrillation is almost 20 times greater in the first hour after the appearance of a myocardial infarction than in the next 24.

That is why prompt hospitalization is so important. Death from sudden, unexpected ventricular fibrillation should be almost completely preventable in this day and age.

Learn the Facts

Thousands of Americans die of heart attack each year because they don't know the symptoms and wait too long to get medical care. Minutes can count when heart attack strikes. Act promptly. Delay may cost your life.

Know These Warnings

Symptoms vary . . . but these are the usual warnings of heart attack: Prolonged, oppressive pain or unusual discomfort in the center of chest, behind the breastbone. Pain may radiate to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw.

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. — The sun was bright and the kind of day for which I had been waiting to cross the pond to the falls. So I went to where Boat was tucked in for the winter, strapped on my snowshoes and set out.

There was a little wind which hurried its cold fingers in my collar.

Down pond I went and for the most part the snowshoeing was good. Once in a while I hit a skating patch which reminded me what could happen.

I stopped at the mouth of the Sanborn to make a contrast of now to when last I visited — fall, foliage time. How different! Winter marched in to destroy the color, close the water into a weaving line while on its shores the nodding trees wait for spring. The reeds were drily rustling, what could be seen of them. The blues and greens of water life had gone.

Now that the pond is tightly clamped into winter; the last undertones of fall have died away. The thickening ice, winds coming over it, have driven most things into hiding. Sleepers sleep on. Thus another year of the pond has faded into the past.

The birches were spaced by dark of green conifers.

The "talk" of my snowshoes, a crunching clean sound took me from the pond's edge through the woods to the falls.

How silent! The diamond drops which had splashed and scattered and run, shimmering over the rocks to the pools of shadows, whispering their secrets was now icy stillness—waiting.

As I turned I heard a gurgle. Maybe it was trying to tell me, "I shall splash and crash uncontrolled and again be a sunburst of beauty when released."

I followed the far shore toward the swamp as it was more sheltered. From here I kept far up the Sanborn. Twice I caught my snowshoe and took a fall into the deep white stuff—just part of snowshoeing. This reminded me of the remarks made before I left home.

I said, "I'm going to the falls so if I don't come back you'll know where to find me."

My husband's answer was, "I'll look for you when the pond opens and I can travel with Bout; It will be much easier."

The remark didn't worry me. At an easy place to cross the river I slid down the bank and not far from where an otter had done the same.

I headed into the swamp on the opposite shore and down river toward the pond.

Now and then I stopped in the wine-bright air to reflect on the fact that winter has its own beauty for us who live with it. It has its bare branches draped in snow or ice, meadows with blue shadows or sparkles, like diamonds. For sound there are these: running water under sheaths of ice, the call of the owl on a dark night alone and melancholy, quietness of falling snow outside on a windless night while the furnace breathes sweet music.

Moving down pond again to complete my circle, the wind was still at my back and not until I entered my driveway where I stopped to

PRE-ADDRESSED BLUE NAME LABEL HELPS ELIMINATE TAX REFUND DELAYS

Your income tax refund can be processed faster if you put the blue pre-addressed name label that came on your 1040 tax package onto the return you file, Whitney L. Wheeler, Director of Internal Revenue for Maine, has said. Just peel it off the front of your tax package and place it in the box at the top of the Form 1040.

Use of the label will eliminate many errors in name and Social Security numbers.

If you file before April 1 and use the name label, your return can usually be processed and your refund issued in five to six weeks. If you find an error in your blue name label, make the correction on the label and use it on the return.

When a return is prepared for you by someone else, remember to put the blue name label on the form you actually file, Mr. Wheeler said. You should either give the tax preparer the package with the name label attached or remove the name label yourself and attach it to the completed form when it is returned to you for signing.

If you are required to file estimated tax declarations, use the pre-addressed forms sent to you by the IRS.
